Classification Literature 18(1991)No.2 (2-001 - 2-686)

* Divisions of 04, 5, 6, 78, 82 and 88 according to the Information Coding Classification (ICC) described and displayed In Int.Classif.9(1982)No.2, p.87-93 and In the International Classification and Indexing Bibliography, Vol.1.(1982).

A further division of the above scheme (by one and sometimes two levels) was published In Int.Classif.12(1985)No.3, p.147-151.
From this more detailed scheme it will be visible that subject fields may also occur In many cases on the third and also forth level of division, Indicated by the number 8.

 Monographs on special topics at special subdivisions.

ISBN 3-527-28002-2
The dictionary contains all in all some 20,000 entries of American, British and German terms, starting with "abandon Call - erfolglose Anwahl" and ending with "Zykluszeit - cycle time". There are no definitions or explanations of contexts.
The only additional information: indication of the gender concerning the German terms. The authors explain in their preface that due to problems encountered when translating scientific publications (in information science) and due to the lack of suitable scientific dictionaries they decided to compile the relevant terms and publish this dictionary.

The thesaurus was composed in the years 1981-1988 by two full-time workers and several assisting people. It is now maintained by the Helsinki University Library. It encompasses altogether 10,880 descriptors and 1,934 cross-references. It consists of an alphabetic and a systematic section, the latter divided into 61 groups. The thesaurus was chosed to be the principal indexing device in the national library, the public libraries and some of the research libraries of Finland. The present edition is a preprint. The official version is in print.

Subject analysis is understood as the determination of the significant characteristics of a document, an act that precedes the actual indexing which is the assignment of indexing terms. The book has the following chapters: Definition and aims - Forms of knowledge - Topics - Forms of writing - Summarization Summarizing in practice - Subject analysis of systems - Depth analysis. References and related readings (13 items). Bibliography of works on the nature and history of the forms of knowledge (with a grading of items according to "introductory", "intermediate", and "advanced" = 150 items). Appendix 2: The forms of knowledge: Summary of characteristics (tabular). Appendix 3: Sequence of steps in summarization. Index of books analyzed in text (76 refs.). General index (p.141-146).

This book starts with examples for the different fields of the Colon Classification and ends with the theoretical chapters explaining the features of the CC, especially also the new ones of Ed 7. The "examples" part includes the explanation for the facet arrangement in a similar way as this has been done in the 6th edition of the CC by Ranganathan himself. It does this in 38 chapters. Every chapter ends with a number of exercises for which the answers are given at the end of the book. It concludes with an index.
