Ranganathan Centenary Year Events

From our Russian colleague, Dr. Eduard SUKIASYAN we heard that a Jubilee Meeting devoted to the Ranganathan Centenary Year was to take place in Moscow on May 29, 1992. It was prepared together with the Embassy of India. Specialists, journalists, members of the Friendship Society were invited as well as all library, bibliographical and information organizations. A large exhibition of S.R.Ranganathan's works and of the literature about him was prepared.

From Prof. Irene WORMELL we received the announcement that the editors of the journal LIBRI and Munksgaard Publishers are commemorating Dr.Ranganathan with a special issue of 110 pages, scheduled for publication in July 1992. Articles of this issue include:

R.N.SHARMA: Ranganathan's impact on international librarianship through information technology. - ANEELAMEGHAN: Application of Ranganathan's General Theory of Knowledge Classification in designing specialized databases. - D.J.FOSKETT: Ranganathan and "User-Friendliness". - P.A.COCHRANE: Information technology in libraries and Ranganathan's Five Laws of Library Science. - P.INGWERSEN and IWORMELL: Ranganathan in the perspective of advanced information retrieval. - E.SVENONIUS: Ranganathan and classification science.

On-Going Activities in Classification and Indexing

It would be very helpful for the editor of ISKO News if members would kindly provide information on their research and development work in their different countries. We will include such information in the forthcoming ISKO News editions for the benefit of all colleagues working in our field. Please, take the time to send such news of your work to the address of the editor of International Classification. Thank you in advance!
