

The authors

Lorenzo Bagnoli is a journalist and board member of the Italian centre for investigative journalism IRPI. He is a member of the Global Initiative against Transnational Organized Crime.

Contact: lo.bagnoli@gmail.com

Stefan Bauchowitz, PhD, is working for the German development agency GIZ as an advisor in a project on economic development in the mining sector in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

Contact: stefan.bauchowitz@giz.de

Dr Dyhia Belhabib is a principal investigator on fisheries at Ecotrust Canada and executive director and co-founder of Nautical Crime Investigation Services.

Contact: dyhia@ecotrust.ca

Daniel Brombacher is the head of the Global Partnership on Drug Policies and Development (GDPDP), a global programme at the German development agency GIZ.

Contact: daniel.brombacher@giz.de

Inga Carry works as a researcher in the project “Research Network Sustainable Global Supply Chains” at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP) in Berlin.

Contact: inga.carry@swp-berlin.org

Peter Fabricius is a freelance journalist and analyst. He regularly writes for the Institute for Security Studies (ISS) in Pretoria and the Daily Maverick, a South African online and printed journal covering foreign affairs and Africa.

Contact: apfabricius@gmail.com

Gerardo Damonte holds a PhD in anthropology from Cornell University. He is a professor in the Department of Social Sciences at Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú (PUCP).

Contact: gdamonte@pucp.pe

The authors

Dr Nhomsai Hagen is a research pharmacist at the Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences of the University of Tübingen. Her PhD thesis was on the quality of medicines for maternal health in Malawi and Rwanda.

Contact: nhomsai.hagen@uni-tuebingen.de

Dr Cathrin Hauk completed her PhD on the problem of substandard and falsified medicines at the Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences of the University of Tübingen. She has been continuing this line of research at the Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health of Oxford University since April 2022.

Contact: cathrin.hauk@ndm.ox.ac.uk

Prof Dr Lutz Heide is a senior professor at the Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences of the University of Tübingen. His research and teaching focuses on pharmaceutical global health.

Contact: heide@uni-tuebingen.de

Prof Dr Philippe Le Billon is a professor at the University of British Columbia with the Department of Geography and the School of Public Policy and Global Affairs.

Contact: philippe.lebillon@ubc.ca

Prof Dr Günther Maihold is deputy director of the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP) in Berlin and professor for political science at Freie Universität Berlin. He was head of the project “Research Network Sustainable Global Supply Chains”.

Contact: guenther.maihold@swp-berlin.org

Fatjona Mejdini is a journalist and researcher. She is the Western Balkans coordinator for the Global Initiative against Transnational Organized Crime.

Contact: fatjona.mejdini@globalinitiative.net

Dr Melanie Müller is a senior associate with a focus on Southern Africa at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP) in Berlin and the head of the research project “Transnational Governance of Sustainable Commodity Supply Chains”.

Contact: melanie.mueller@swp-berlin.org

Dr Bettina Schorr is a political scientist and the programme director of trAndeS – Postgraduate Program on Social Inequalities and Sustainable Development in the Andean Region at Freie Universität Berlin.
Contact: bettina.schorr@fu-berlin.de

Detective Chief Superintendent Jan Schubert is head of a police station of the Bavarian State Police with experience in the field of transnational organised crime and has worked for several German institutions, including the Federal Foreign Office (AA).

Ina Tessnow-von Wysocki is a PhD student in the ERC project MARIPOL-DATA at the University of Vienna with a focus on science–policy interfaces for ocean protection.
Contact: ina.tessnow-vonwyssocki@univie.ac.at

Dr Leopold von Carlowitz currently works as senior advisor for the CONNEX Support Unit. Previously, he was senior advisor for the GIZ sector programme Extractives for Development, where he led the workstream on responsible mineral supply chains.
Contact: leopold.carlowitz@giz.de

Dr Judith Vorrath is a senior associate in the International Security Division of the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP) with a focus on transnational organised crime.
Contact: judith.vorrath@swp-berlin.org

